

OVIDIUS UNIVERSITY CONSTANTA

DOCTORAL SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

Sacred Scripture - the foundation of church laws

Summary

Coordinator:

† I.P.S. PROF. UNIV. DR. Teodosie Petrescu

CANDIDATE:

Pr. Băltărețu Vasile

CONSTANTA

2018

Content

Introduction	1
---------------------------	---

Chapter I

1. Orthodox canon law - overview	7
a) Canon Law	11
b) Similarities canon law with the general system of law	12
c) Canonic law from a scientific perspective and the way of its exposure	14
d) Canon law highlighted in auxiliary sciences	21
e) The existing legal rules of canon law	25
2. Orthodox canon law - Sources	27
2.1 Canon Law - General Sources
a) Holy Scripture	28
b) The Holy Tradition	35
c) Church Laws	37
d) Civil Law	38
e) Canons	40
1. Canons of the Holy Apostles	40
2. Canons of the Ecumenical Councils	41

3. Canons of private councils	42
4. The Canons of the Holy Fathers	43
5. Canons found in different apostolic collections	45
a) The Didah of the Twelve Apostles	45
b) The Hippolytus Canons	46
c) Apostolic Constitutions	46
d) Didascalia	47
e) The collection called "Optateuchos" or the Order of the Holy Apostles	48
1. Acoluthia ton cannonon	48
2. Synopsis of Stefan Efeseanul	49
3. Collection in 60 chapters	49
4. Collection in 50 chapters	50
f) The works of Byzantine commentators	51
g) Nomocanonic Collections	53
1. The Nomocan of Gregory Doxapatriul, 12th Century	56
2. The Arsenie Antorian Nomocanum called the "Sinop of the Divine Canons	56
3. Matei Vlastare's Nomocan	56
4. Spiritual Nomocan	57
5. Cotelerius Nomocan	57
6. Manuil Malaxos Nomocan	58

2.2 Splending springs

a) Canonical decisions of patriarchal synods	59
--	----

2.3 Auxiliary springs

a) The views of the recognized canonists	63
--	----

b) Political and Church Law.....	64
----------------------------------	----

1. Codex Teodosianus	64
----------------------------	----

2. Corpus juris civilis	64
-------------------------------	----

3. Ecloga	65
-----------------	----

4. Prohiron	66
-------------------	----

5. Epanagogue	66
---------------------	----

6. Vasilicals	66
---------------------	----

7. Hexabiblos	66
---------------------	----

c) Excerpts of state laws on the Church, of the Codes of the Roman-Byzantine State Law	67
--	----

2.4 Use of sources of law

a) The power and implementation of church laws	68
--	----

b) How to interpret the laws	73
------------------------------------	----

c) Repeal laws that no longer correspond to reality	76
---	----

2.5 Special sources of canon law	79
--	----

Chapter II

Church canons and their relationship with divine revelation

a) The meaning of Christian law	90
b) Relationship Cans, Gospel, Tradition	96
c) Authority of canons according to their reporting to the Revelation	102

Chapter III

The Relationship between Church and Divine Law

a) Highlighting the will of God expressed in Holy Scripture	109
b) Highlighting the will of God expressed in the Holy Tradition	117
c) Expression of the will of the Church through its lawful organs	117
d) Church Norms - an Expression of the Will of the Church	118
e) The Principles underlying the Compilation of Church Law	119
f) The relationship between "jus divinum" and "jus ecclesiasticum"	121

Chapter IV

The Sacred Scripture of the Rule of Law

1. Verses of Holy Scripture attesting to the inspiration and work of Orthodox canon law in general	127
--	-----

a) Texts on Powers Constituted	127
1. Verses of Sacred Scripture urging submission to the rulers	127
2. Verses of Holy Scripture attesting to the Emperor's Judgment	129
3. Verses of Holy Scripture demonstrating that the laws of the state must be respected	131
4. Texts of Holy Scripture that confirm the Emperor's being as sacred (Canon 84 Apostolic)	132
5. Texts of Sacred Scripture that show the duties of the emperor	133
6. Texts of Holy Scripture that highlight the idea of leniency	136
7. Texts of the Sacred Scripture on the Prudence of Judgment	136
8. Texts of Holy Scripture on the Emperor's Advice	138
9. Texts of the Sacred Scriptures presenting those who deceive the kings	138
10. Texts Regarding the King's Resistance and, implicitly, the Bishops	139
11. Texts of the Holy Scripture dealing with non-observance of the law	140
12. Texts of Holy Scripture showing the effects of non-observance of laws	140
13. Texts of Sacred Scripture showing the Restoration of Authority	142
b) Texts about the laws	142
c) Texts on Justice and Judges	145
2. Verses of the Holy Scriptures attesting the work of civilian orthodox civil law	154

a) About the status and rights of individuals	154
b) Marriage and its canonical conditions	158
c) About the rights of slaves in the old law and the recommendations of the New Law	165
3. Texts of the Old and New Testaments attesting the work of canonical orthodox law	170
1. The Sources of Criminal Canon Law of the Church	171
2. Canon law	172
a) The prosecution and trial in criminal canon law	173
b) About Penalties	183
Conclusion.....	198
Bibliography.....	203

Sacred Scripture - the foundation of church laws

Summary

Sacred Scripture is the foundation of church laws. The main theme of church law is found in Scripture as follows: "If your brother mistakes you, go, rebuke him between you and him alone. And if he listens to you, you've won your brother. And if he does not listen to you, take another one or two with you, as the word of two or three witnesses can settle. And he will not listen to them, tell the Church; and if he will not obey the Church, he will be yours as a heathen and tax collector. Verily I say unto you, Whatever we shall bind upon the earth, they shall also be bound in heaven, and as many as thou shalt loose on the earth, they shall be loosed in heaven "(Mt 18: 15-18).

The Savior Christ, the Son of God incarnate, gave the Holy Apostles and their descendants the command to preach the word to the ends of the world, and implicitly the command to organize His church. This organization was accomplished through the formulation of clear laws that grounded the teachings taught by Christ Himself.

This law-making work begins with the Apostolic Synod in the 50th anniversary of Jerusalem, the synod in which the Holy Apostles decide on the problems faced by the Church at that time.

According to the same pattern of brotherly unity in Christ, the Church's parents later gathered in ecumenical or local synods to resolve the problems and generally the heresies under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Thus, each synod consisted of a series of canons or church laws that had as their primary purpose the defense of church life by the invasions of all kinds of heresies.

All these canons, both the synods and the ones given by the Holy Fathers, are inspired by Holy Scripture. Moreover, between canons and some laws of the Roman Empire and beyond, there is a working relationship, a relationship that aims to harmonize together the work between the Church and the State. In other words, certain church laws are strengthened by the power of the State and become laws with binding force throughout the empire.

The present paper, structured in four large chapters, contains numerous subchapters in which the general data of canon law is first presented, followed by its relationship with Divine Revelation, and continuing with the relationship between divine law expressed in Scripture and Tradition, and church law. The last part of this work is aimed at highlighting verses in Holy Scripture in which church laws and even some civil laws find the basis for their applicability.

Thus, the first part of the thesis highlights precise notions of canon law in the desire to show that the origin of canon law is in Scripture. Also in this part are presented the similarities between the canon law and the general law system, and then the canonical right from the scientific perspective is revealed.

Also in this section is the problem of sources of canon law, springs that are divided into several sections as follows: general springs, whole, auxiliary and special springs. All these sources have the canonical right in all its aspects, proving that it is inspired by the theology of Holy Scripture on the one hand and Holy Tradition on the other.

The second part of the work presents the relationship between the canons of the Church and their relationship with divine revelation. Here is the significance of the law that proves that the Church of God is not an institution constituted by the laws of the state, or by the determination of some people who have come to terms with each other in order to establish it, to develop into men the notion of God. Also for its survival over the ages, divine involvement is imperative, for only human desire can not guarantee this existence at all. Moreover, the relationship of unity among believers as living members and the assets of the Church is concentrated around the only center called Christ.

Religious moral nature is the specificity of the Christian Law, a law expressing the teandrical nature of the Church, defining in its expression its institutional character. Christ, the true God and full man, is present in the Church, being, from a religious point of view, even her life. The law is the form through which the incarnate divine Logos intervenes and works directly in His Church. Actually the law is the method of action in the Church.

The relationship of canonical reporting with the Gospel and Tradition shows from the post-apostolic period that many of the elements of the teachings left by the Apostles become religious-moral norms that contained, besides the actual teaching and certain legal prescriptions. Once these legal prescriptions based on apostolic theology have been fixed in writing, they have been named canons. From here we can see the close relationship between the Holy Gospel and the canons always made through the intercession of Holy Tradition.

The New Testament theology existent and transmitted through its canonical books offers the possibility of verifying the content of the laws of the canons as fully in accordance with it. Although this verification is easy to realize because the text of the canons never contradicts the writings of the New Testament, it must be borne in mind that canons must be understood in the light of Holy Tradition.

In other news, the canons can be considered as an interpretation of the theology of Holy Scripture, so that its proper understanding produces in human nature the mood to be made and to live according to it. Virtually all of Scripture and especially the Holy Gospels in order to be correctly understood, it is necessary to explain them, an explanation by the Holy Fathers of the Church, saints who also composed canons from the precepts of the Gospels, canons that have proved imperative.

Chapter Three presents the relationship between the church law with all its elements and the divine law. Divine revelation is the key to penetrating the deep mystery of the Church, a mystery that, without the full knowledge of those revealed by God, remains a mystery of incorruptibility for the human mind. The acceptance of God from love for man to reveal Himself and His will is the way the believer is protected from the danger of falling from the truth. Thus, through Revelation, man knows and understands the Sacred Scripture that presents the Church as a community of all believers who have received baptism in the name of the Holy Trinity (Acts 2, 38), who profess faith in Jesus Christ and share the Body and The blood of Christ offered to all for salvation. Thus, on the one hand, the divine law (Jus divinum), a law that encompasses all the commandments and teachings revealed, and on the other hand, the ecclesiastcum law, which encompasses the transposition of laws and the divine commandments in church laws that have the owl to lead the Church of God in historical conditions.

The law of the Church of Christ is conditioned by its social character and not its essence. Divine laws have their source in God and were given through Jesus Christ for the Church to follow them. These divine laws are therefore unchangeable, because they are the expression of God's will. For example, the commandment of the Savior of Christ to His Apostles to bind and untie the sins of men "Whatever you will bind on the earth will also be bound in heaven, and as many as you unleash on the earth, they will be loosed in heaven" (Matthew 18, 18), a command on which one of the seven Holy Mysteries is founded and which is governed by numerous canons. Basically, if we look at church law in a broader sense, it can be seen that all "criminal" church law is based on this divine commandment.

Starting from the commandment of the Incarnate Son of God, "by going on to teach all nations by baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to keep all that I have commanded you" (Matthew 28:19), the Apostles, as His direct descendants, were aware of the mission the Master had entrusted to them. So, on the basis of the divine commandments, the Holy Apostles not only fulfilled them but also passed on their descendants in both written and oral form.

The obedience of norms received from the Holy Apostles, either in writing or orally, has been preserved by the Church as if the commandment had been received personally from Christ, which is why their observance is obligatory. In addition to these divine commands, there are still a series of commandments or laws that have been thought and adopted by the Church in a certain historical context. These commandments, although not divine in nature, are binding in that they have been applied by the Church, which has raised them to the law.

The last section of the work presents Holy Scripture as the basis of the rule of law. All the teachings of the Sacred Scripture is the norms that the Church of Christ guides its members for the purpose of their salvation. So, on the basis of these laws of Scripture, canon law is inspired and organized in laws or canons conceived by the Ecumenical, Local Councils and, last but not least, by the Holy Fathers who, according to the needs of the times and the needs of the Church, make clear canons with the purpose of regulating church life.

Selective Bibliography

- Bible or Holy Scripture, EIBMBOR, Bucharest, 1991
- Alfons Maria Stickler, Istoria juris cantonese latini, Institutiones academicae, I, Historia fontium, Augustae Taurinorum, 1950
- Andrei Șaguna, Compendium of Canon Law, Sibiu, 1868
- Idem, Compendium of Canonic Law of Sânta Comoros and Apostolic Churches, Ed. III, Edit. Archdiocese Printing House, Sibiu, 1913
- Archeeveque Basile, Authorite et Saint-Esprit, in the Messager of the Exarchate of the Patriarchate of Russia and Western Europe, no. 67, XVII, 1969
- Bluntschli, I.C., Algemeines Staatsrecht, Stuttgart, 1876, II, 367.
- Bobos, Gheorghe, The General Theory of State and Law, Didactic and Pedagogical Ed., Bucharest, 1973
- Boroianu D. G., Church Law, Bucharest, 1933.
- Boroianu, Dr. D. G. Church Law, Vol. II, Iasi, 1899,
- Calabrese, Antonio Diritto penale canonico, Libreria Editrice Vaticana, Citta del Vaticano, 1996
- CETERCHI Ioan, Ion CRAIOVAN, Introduction to General Theory of Law, Ed All, Bucharest, 1993
- D'Ercole Giuseppe, Discipline Consortium, Le sanzioni nell 'ordinamento canonico precostantiniano, Pars Prima, Rome, 1955.
- Covolo Enrico, Logos e Fides, Fra Atene e gli Areopaghi del terzo millennio, Libreria Editrice Vaticana, Città del Vaticano, 2009.

- Dalbert Peter, Die Theology der hellenistisch-jüdischen Mission-Literatur unter Ausschuleiss von Philo und Josephus (Theologische Forschung, 4), Hamburg, 1954.
- DANIȘOR I. DOGARU, D. C., Gh. DANIȘOR, General Theory of Law, Themis Publishing House, Craiova, 2000.
- By Agar Joseph Martin, A Handbook on Canon Law, coed.E. Caparros & M. Theriault, Montreal, Canada, 1999.
- Erdö Peter, Introduction to Historiam scientiae canonicae, Roma, 1990.
- Farges Albert, Barbedette D., Philosophia Scholastica, vol. 1, II, Paris, 1933.
- Flock Arhid. Prof. Dr. Ioan N., Canadian Orthodox Law, Church Legislation and Administration, vol. 11, Publishing House of the Bible and Mission Institute of the Romanian Orthodox Church, Bucharest. 1990
- Idem, The Canons of the Orthodox Church (Notes and Comments), Sibiu, 2005.
- Fogliasso Emilio, Introduction to the Judicial Relationship between Religions and Ordinarii Loci, Schola Typographica Salesiana, 1948.
- Goyeneche Servo, De processibus: breves adnotaciones ad Libri IV Codicis Iuris Canonici, Messina, 1958.
- Goyeneche Servo, De procesibus: Judicias in general (pro manuscripto), Roma, 1952.
- Gredt Joseph, Elementa philosophiae aristotelico-thomisticae, vol. II, Friborg, 1932.
- Hanga Vladimir, Iustiniani Institutiones. Institutions of Justinian, ed. Light Lex, Bucharest, 2005
- Hefele Karl Joseph von, Leclercq H., Histoire des Conciles, Paris, 1907.
- Hempel Johannes, Die Wurzeln des Missions-Willen im Colauber des A.T., in the "Zeitschrift für die Alttestamentliche Wissenschaft" (ZAW) 66, 1954.

- Ică, Diacon John Jr., Apostolic Canon of the first centuries, vol. 1, Bucharest, Deisis Publishing House. 2008
- Idem Jr. Diacon Ioan, Apostolic Canon of the first centuries, vol. I, Bucharest, Deisis Publishing House, 2008.
- Ivan Prof. Iorgu D., The Resignation of the Priesthood. Study of canon law. Bucharest, 1937.
- I, Oros and canon in Orthodox church law, in Orthodoxy, XXII, 1970, no. 3
- Idem, Church Goods of the first six centuries. Their legal and canonical situation, Bucharest, 1937
- J. Barstein, Kurze Bericht über die Langen des in den k.u.k Erbländern zahlreich angesiedelten illyrischen Volkes, Wien, 1866
- Martyr Prof. Dr. Isidor, Canonic Law, Bucharest University Publishing House, Bucharest, 2005.
- Idem, The Ethics of Christian Social Doctrine, Bucharest University Publishing House, Bucharest, 2007.
- Idem, Schemes of Fundamental Theology, Gramar Publishing House, Bucharest, 2001.
- Milaş Dr. Nicodim, Canons of the Orthodox Church (accompanied by Comments), vol. I, Part I, Arad, 1930.